

Tired of seeing the same faces (and bodies!) on TV?

So are we.

Gritty Talent is launching a new talent discovery app. It's part of our ongoing work to make the UK media more diverse and inclusive, by helping to amplify voices from underrepresented groups.

Do you know someone who would be great at sharing their passion, knowledge or skill on screen?

Our team is looking for a broad range of people with potential; from experts for interviews and documentaries, to budding reporters, or a potential judge for the next big TV competition.

If you or someone you know would like to find out more about getting connected to TV industry decision makers and opportunities, plus free media training, please get in touch now.
