

A young child with a hearing aid is shown in profile, looking towards a group of people who appear to be clapping or cheering. The scene is overlaid with a blue tint.

EFFECTIVE PRACTICE FOR DEAF AUTISTIC* CHILDREN

We are looking to identify effective practice in supporting the inclusion of deaf autistic children in education in the United Kingdom.

Are you a parent or professional supporting a deaf autistic child aged 4-11 years? If so, we would appreciate your experiences and perspectives.

Please complete the online questionnaire to help us identify effective educational practice for deaf autistic children in the UK.

TO TAKE PART FOLLOW THE LINK

TINYURL.COM/2W27ZN5V

\ Condition first language has been used as this seems to be the preference of many autistic individuals. However, with this note the researchers would like to acknowledge that this is not the way all autistic people want to be called.*

The term deaf is used here to refer to children with any degree and type of hearing loss in accordance to the definition provided by the National Deaf Children's Society.